The Collect for St. Luke		BCP 253

ALMIGHTY God, who calledst Luke the Physician, whose praise is in the Gospel, to be an Evangelist, and Physician of the soul: May it please thee that, by the wholesome medicines of the doctrine delivered by him, all the diseases of our souls may be healed; through the merits of thy Son Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

O ALMIGHTY and most merciful God, of thy bountiful goodness keep us, we beseech thee, from all things that may hurt us; that we, being ready both in body and soul, may cheerfully accomplish those things which thou commandest; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The Epistle

II Timothy 4.5

BCP 253f

WATCH thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry. For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing. Do thy diligence to come shortly unto me: for Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world, and is departed unto Thessalonica; Crescens to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia. Only Luke is with me. Take Mark, and bring him with thee: for he is profitable to me for the ministry. And Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus. The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but especially the parchments. Alexander the coppersmith did me much evil: the Lord reward him according to his works: of whom be thou ware also; for he hath greatly withstood our words.

The Holy Gospel

St. Luke 10.1

BCP 254

Priest: The Holy Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ according to St. Luke, the tenth chapter, beginning at the first verse.

Answer: Glory be to thee, O Lord.

THE Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself would come. Therefore said he unto them, The harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest. Go your ways: behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves. Carry neither purse, nor scrip, nor shoes: and salute no man by the way. And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house. And if the son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon it: if not, it shall turn to you again. And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire.

Priest: The Gospel of the Lord.

Answer: Praise be to thee, O Christ.

The Offertory

The Gift of Love

arr. HOPSON

Duet: Kami Sun and Sam Jones

*Though I may speak with bravest fire,
And have the gift to all inspire,
And have not love, my words are vain,
As sounding brass, and hopeless gain.*

*Though I may give all I possess,
And striving so my love profess,
But not be given by love within,
The profit soon turns strangely thin.*

*Come, Spirit, come, our hearts control,
Our spirits long to be made whole.
Let inward love guide every deed;
By this we worship, and are freed. Amen*

Communion Draw Us in the Spirit's Tether DEARMER/FRIEDEL
Tune: UNION SEMINARY

*Draw us in the Spirit's tether,
for when humbly in your name,
two or three are met together,*

*you are in the midst of them;
alleluia, alleluia!
Touch we now thy garment's hem.*

*As the brethren used to gather in the name of Christ to sup,
then with thanks to God the Father
break the bread and bless the cup,
alleluia, alleluia!
So now bind our friendship up.*

*All our meals and all our living
make as sacraments of thee,
that by caring, helping, giving,
we may true disciples be.
Alleluia, alleluia!
we will serve thee faithfully.*

Postcommunion Prayer

ALmighty God, who didst inspire thy servant Saint Luke the Physician, to set forth in the Gospel the love and healing power of thy Son; Manifest in thy Church the like power and love, to the healing of our bodies and our souls; through the same thy Son Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen.

GOING DEEPER

Questions for Personal Reflection & Prayer

Physician of the Soul Collect

“Almighty God, who calledst Luke the Physician... to be an Evangelist, and Physician of the soul.” The Collect asks that “by the wholesome medicines of the doctrine delivered by him, all the diseases of our souls may be healed.” Many of us are quite attentive to the body’s health—annual checkups, step counts, careful diets—while the soul’s diseases go undiagnosed and untreated: resentments, anxieties, quiet pride, etc. The Rev’d Robert Crouse warned that a world which has lost its hope of heaven fixes on earthly health and comfort “as though they were ends in themselves.” St. Luke’s medicine is his Gospel: the Prodigal Son, the Good Samaritan, the penitent thief. Try praying the Collect slowly each day this week, and name before God one “disease of your soul,” asking Christ, the good Physician, to heal it through His Word.

Only Luke Is with Me Epistle

St. Paul, near his death, writes: “Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world... Only Luke is with me.” The Rev’d John Keble noticed that Demas and Luke had once been named together as fellow-labourers (Philemon 1:24); but the trial sifted them apart. Keble warned that many of us admire the saints at a distance, imagining we would have stood by St. Paul in prison; yet very likely we would soon have tired of his fasts, his chains, and his grave silences. St. Luke could stay because he had long been in training: he “made much of them that fear the Lord.” Where is the love of this present world quietly drawing you away from Christ’s call—a career move, a comfortable friendship, Sunday worship that has gradually become optional? Ask God to make you a faithful companion, ordering your affections in His faith and fear, and to keep you constant when following Christ becomes costly.

Them That Love His Appearing Epistle

“I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith.” The Rev’d Isaac Williams heard in these words “the simple solemnity of approaching departure”: St. Paul, deserted and in chains, beholding the crown of righteousness in the Righteous Judge’s hand. Yet, Williams says, how careful he is not to keep that hope for himself: “not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing.” Crouse, preaching on this day, confessed plainly: “I know that someday, I will be sick, and that someday I will not get well again,” (Fr. Crouse died in 2011). Many of us avoid that thought entirely, filling every hour so we never have to face it. Do you “love His appearing,” or merely hope it is postponed? Try kneeling this week and asking the Lord for the grace to finish your course, keeping the faith, so that you may meet Him with joy and not with dread.

Pray Ye the Lord of the Harvest Gospel

“The harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest.” Williams saw here a whole Church bound together: the Seventy disciples sent out two by two to support one another, and all the faithful united with them in prayer. “The multitude are not saved without the labourers sent forth to gather, and the labourers are not sent forth without the prayers of the multitude.” He added that the people are also to support those sent, “for the labourer is worthy of his hire.” Many of us treat the Church’s mission as the clergy’s work, something we watch from the pew. When did you last pray by name for your priest, for missionaries, for vocations to the ministry among the young people of our parish? Try praying to the Lord of the harvest each day this week, and ask Him what part He would have you bear in His work.

Peace Be to This House Gospel

“Into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house. And if the son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon it: if not, it shall turn to you again.” Williams said that St. John speaks of love and St. Matthew of power, “but St. Luke of healing and of peace”—not peace in a general way, but Christ’s own peace given to each house, and to each in that house who is a son or daughter of peace. Many of us bring home the day’s noise instead: hurry, frustration, irritability, the screen at the dinner table. Would your household recognize you as a bearer of Christ’s peace? Name before the Lord one place at home where peace has grown thin. Then kneel, as countless penitents have done over St. Luke’s pages, and ask the Lord to make you a son or daughter of peace, and to let His peace rest upon your house.

These reflection questions were produced with assistance from artificial intelligence, and with insights from: The Companion of the Saints by the Rev’d John Keble; Healing and Peace by the Rev’d Isaac Williams; and St Luke the Evangelist by the Rev’d Robert Crouse.
